A Chaucer Society is now being formed to print in parallel columns [illegible] of the [illegible] printed manuscripts of the poet's works, beginning with Canterbury Tales.

Charles Darwin, author of the Origin of Species, has a new work in the press, Variation of Animals and Plants under Domestication; or, the Principles of Inheritance, Reversion, Crossing, Inter-breeding, and Election.

La Societe Arménienne [illegible] is the title of a work published by Rev. [illegible] lich Bay Dadian, one of the highest [illegible] in [illegible] nian Society, on this ancient and [illegible]. He has named the Rev. Walter W. Skeat as editor, and that gentleman has consented.

The Boston Commonwealth says: A correspondent, writing from England, says that in the Register at Portsmouth, the birthplace of Charles Dickens, under date of May 8, 1814, is found the baptism of Francis Pickwick, and almost immediately after it that of Eliza Dickens, and next a child by the name of Sharp [illegible]. This [illegible] the origin of Dicken's [illegible] characters. Mr. Dicken's own name is Charles John Hoffman Dickens; and his father, Thomas Dickens, is entered in the Portsmouth Register [illegible]

A thorough specimen of German industry and research is the recent Biblical Geography of Palestine, edited by one Dr. Tobeller. [illegible] and extracts from 1,500 works on the Holy Land, the authors of which lived from the third to the nineteenth century. In this [illegible] he enumerates 384 distinct works on Palestine. The most successful and popular German novelist of the present day (Miss Muhlbach not excepted) is Fritz Reuter, who writes his books only in the Mecklenburg patois. One of his novels has been translated into nine languages. Reuter did not write anything until he was 40 years old.

The London Examiner has a favorable notice on Motley's continuation of his great work. It says: "In his Rise of the Dutch Republic, Mr. Motley traced the progress of the famous and eventful struggle for liberty waged by the little race of Dutchmen against Spanish tyranny, ending his story with the assassination of William the Silent. In the History of the United Netherlands, of which the second half is now published, he has carried on the stirring narrative through twenty-five years, fitly closing it with the truce signed at Antwerp in 1609, by which the independence of the Republic was finally secured. As a sequel to his work, he tells us that he is now preparing a History of the Thirty Years' War, designed to give prominence to the share therein taken by Holland, and to show how it was substantially a carrying on of the great battle for liberty which the Dutch began. He has chosen a noble theme and made it his own. A worthy successor of Prescott, he works with a painstaking research, and with literary skill quite equal to Prescott's; and in his subject he has a great advantage over his famous countryman. He details with admirable clearness, and with excellent ability, the story of one of the most fruitful episodes in European history. He shows how at a time when tyranny was everywhere the fashion, when Protestant England only adopted, in an improved form, the principles of state craft, and that had been induced by long centuries of Papal thraldom, built upon precedents of Roman rule, a little nation so small and apparently so insignificant that its claim to be an independent nation roused the mockery of Europe, resolutely stood out for its freedom, and thereby set an example which all the best peoples have since then done little more than follow. All this he does in simple, fervid language, telling his tale with charming simplicity, and, therefor, in the most eloquent and effective way that is possible."

LOST FROM CIVILIZATION.—Late news from Australia announces that an exploring vessel had found on one of the [illegible] islands of the Australasian group three white men who had probably been shipwrecked years ago, and had lived so long among the natives that they had forgotten their own language. One, whose recollection of what he had been was stronger than that of his comrades, was able to trace upon the sand the letter L and 18. These were the only remnants of an educated life left to them.

Speaking of this, the Alta says: "There is a material in this little incident for three Enoch Ardens. What hopes and plans, what ambitions and schemes, what domestic ties and associations may have closed up forever to these three men since they dropped out of them all. What blank page would be the memory of this once civilized man, whose only trace of his other life, retained through his gradual sinking into savagery, is that he can mark upon the sand the letter L and 18."

Roberts Brothers, of Boston, have sold 50,000 copies of Jean Ingelow's poems. Miss Ingelow's face is described as not beautiful, but something better than beautiful.

Next August a grand total eclipse of the sun will take place in India, and scientific men from several countries will be sent to make astronomical observations.

Henry Ward Beecher's New Role.

Nothing can more happily illustrate the [illegible] and frailty of man than the step of Henry Ward Beecher from his high eminence of [illegible] as a sermonizer to the unsuccessful role he is now playing as a novelist and dramatiser of his novel entitled "Norwood," which, it [illegible] was played upon the New York stage some four [illegible] and according to the World and Post [illegible] proved a most unsuccessful failure. Robert B[illegible] of the New York Ledger, not satisfied with his fast horse "Dexter," must also [illegible] of a fast preacher. Well, he la[illegible] for a consideration, to write a novel for [illegible] of his paper. It was a good speculation for Bonner, but evidently a bad one for Beecher, so far as his intellectual fame is concerned. [illegible] tells us "it is fair to [illegible] body read the first number of his novel [illegible] read the last." But B[illegible] was not done with the [illegible] and by the advice of others, and with the [illegible] of B[illegible] himself, we find "Norwood" [illegible] placed upon the stage, and the [illegible] by the [illegible]. The World says, [illegible] the first two acts:

In a Nutshell.

For five days past it has been a matter of no little interest to watch the course of events in the [illegible] at Washington concerning the occupancy of the War Office. The crisis came when the Senate, on the 14th inst., by a four-fifths vote, [illegible] Secretary Stanton, and [illegible] by the President. General Grant, [illegible] lately retired from the War Office, and this prompt action, following that of [illegible] the [illegible] He evidently had not [illegible], and was therefore [illegible] and so awkwardly [illegible] he had imagined that his [illegible] to Congress would [illegible] the Senate [illegible] any action which might seriously [illegible] his own [illegible] and [illegible] he also thought that [illegible] has been quietly [illegible] he could rely on that [illegible] he has got [illegible] or bring on [illegible] with a power which he is not able to [illegible] and bluster [illegible] and his [illegible], and the [illegible] The Senate [illegible] appear to have no [illegible] left but to back down with what [illegible] he [illegible] in a most [illegible] very little [illegible] and [illegible] his [illegible] into the [illegible] and giving it [illegible] But it turns out [illegible] the War [illegible] it from [illegible] By his help [illegible] him, it [illegible] and perhaps [illegible] that [illegible] of the [illegible] it has been kept out of [illegible] of the President, [illegible] to be a [illegible]

The [illegible] says that the news furnished by [illegible] relative to a negro outbreak [illegible] for the most part has no foundation [illegible] that the whites are used by [illegible] to all manner of [illegible] the [illegible] of the blacks. Such [illegible] They [illegible] and [illegible] particular note. The [illegible] press eagerly publishes and [illegible] all these stories, and constantly [illegible] a deep anxiety to hear of the perpetration of [illegible] outrages by the blacks. The negroes have thus far conducted themselves with a [illegible] that is highly commendable. Their behavior has been far better than that of a large [illegible] of whites by whom they are surrounded.

The Herald says that at the annual meeting of the I. O. O. F. Library Association at Salem, the following officers for 1868 were elected: President, [illegible]; Vice Presidents, G. W. Gray and T. McF. Patton; Secretary, O. N. Terry; Treasurer, A. L. [illegible]; Librarian, J. I. O. [illegible]. Delegates from Chemeketa Lodge, A. B. [illegible], Geo. H. Chance, L. W. Miller. Anniversary Lodge, H. D. [illegible], W. A. McPherson, J. C. Brown. Olive Lodge, J. J. Shaw, J. Q. Wilson, [illegible] Garden. Willamette Encampment, A. L. [illegible], S. E. May, E. D. The estimates for the support of the army for [illegible] are $77,000,000, of which $13,[illegible] are for [illegible] of last year, leaving $63,[illegible]. This sum General Grant has undertaken to cut down very [illegible]. The new estimates for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1869, are as follows: For the army proper, $37,511,512; armament and munitions of war, $1,893,202; Military Academy, $335,012; fortifications, $560,600; river and harbor improvements, $5,677,600; public buildings and grounds, $1,429,770. Total, $47,516,196.

THE BLAIRS.—Thurlow Weed says: "The Blairs, thank God, have gone back to the Democracy. This relieves Gen. Grant from an influence more persistent than the toothache, and more pestilential than the itch. They finally exhausted the patience of long-suffering President Lincoln."

Censure of Johnson's Message.

On the 19th of December a resolution offered by Senator Drake of Missouri, condemning the language of certain portions of the President's message, was taken up by the Senate. Mr. Drake said:

Nothing but a sense of duty prompted him to offer this resolution, and suggest that this was perhaps an extraordinary course; but, if an assault was worth noticing, it was worthy of effectual resistance. The question was whether the blows and kicks administered by the President to Congress could be salved over by senatorial dignity. Silence on their part, he thought, was little short of criminality. Never before had a President declared unconstitutional bills that had already become laws. When a bill had become a law, the President was merely the executive power, and had no more right than any other man to declare it unconstitutional. An officer charged with the execution of a law had no right to impair the effectiveness of that law. The President has a right to his private opinion. They had a right to demand that he kept it to himself. Denouncing such a law as unconstitutional was, under the circumstances, an incitement and invitation to resistance at the South, and, doubtless, under it the ex-rebel would snap his fingers at the law, relying on the Executive for pardon. The Executive would probably do likewise, and if so, would be the greatest criminal of the two. What gave greater danger to these declarations of the President, was the inflammable state of the South. But for that there might have been passed by in silence. He [Drake] had concluded that he had no more right to treat the President with consideration in this discussion than though he were a double skinned rhinoceros. He admitted that the President might recommend the repeal of any law for the sake of expediency, or he would assume that the President had power to recommend its repeal as unconstitutional. Even then it would depend upon the circumstances of the case; but he had no right to emasculate the force of that law, or dictate resistance to it. All knew that this was the last step he meditated. What [illegible] his inquiry in the [illegible] How far he had power to [illegible] Congress and the suggestion that the Executive might be forced to stand on his right of [illegible] of Congress. It was but feeling the pulse of Congress to see how far he might go, and the pulse of rebels and rebel sympathisers to see how he would be supported, and as a proof of that, had he the power he would drive them from the Capitol at the point of the bayonet. The President was precluded by the action of Congress in passing a bill, from pronouncing an opinion upon it otherwise than as an individual, Congress being the supreme legislative power, whose acts were placed on record in the archives of the nation, and every such officer was bound by it and [illegible] make it his own rule. Especially was it the case in a law passed over the President's veto. If it were true, then, that the President had this right, it followed that he had used his high office to set up the opinions of Andrew Johnson, who is no more than any other man we may meet in the street. Congress was told that the passage of this law was a breach of this high position. He [Drake] was convinced that this called for [illegible] and they could not, in view of [illegible] high [illegible] by this [illegible] in a state [illegible] over the whole Union. This was the Senate of the United States, and he would [illegible] its dignity [illegible] such encroachments as [illegible] be attacked by Executive insolence. This much he owed to himself and the noble State he [illegible], whether the Senate agreed to it or not.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND CONGRESS—LETTER FROM SCHUYLER COLFAX.—To the Editors of the Cincinnati Commercial: Your correspondent "Mack," explaining why President Johnson did not call Congress together in 1865, under date of Washington, Dec. 24, says:

"Near the close of the war he said to Mr. Colfax that he did not intend to call an extra session of Congress in 1865. Mr. Colfax thought he was right in this resolution, and, so believing, started across the continent. It is now proposed to [illegible] Mr. Johnson for doing what Mr. Lincoln [illegible] and what Mr. Colfax advised."

Allow me [illegible] to say:

1. It is not true that Mr. Johnson told me "that he did not intend to call an extra session of Congress [illegible]."

2. It is not true that "Mr. Colfax thought he was right in this resolution."

3. It is not true that "Mr. Colfax advised" him to any such course.

The facts are [illegible] last year in papers [illegible] and in New York, over my signature. Suffice it now to say that President Lincoln, on the last day of his life, in reply to my [illegible] of the [illegible] of an extra session, said it would not be necessary, if he concluded to convene one, till late in the summer, so that it might run into the regular session, and promised to telegraph me at San Francisco as to the probable time; that I did [illegible] an extra session to President Johnson, in the parlor of the Kirkwood, shortly after President Lincoln's death, but that he replied that he had not then given any thought to it, and could not then decide it either way; and that, when in California, I was so impressed, as all my traveling companions know, with the conviction that there must be an extra session, I arranged all my visits up the country and into the interior so as to be at San Francisco every semi-monthly steamer day, ready to start to Washington by the first steamer after the [illegible] of the proclamation.

GENERAL GRANT IN NEW YORK.—A grand mass meeting in favor of the nomination of General Grant for the Presidency, was held in New York on the evening of December 4th. Among the signers to the call for the meeting are the following distinguished citizens:

A. T. Stewart,
Wm. E. Dodge,
[illegible] Taylor,
E. W. [illegible],

It is safe to say that the above forty-four names represent two hundred millions of capital; and that three of the number, A. T. Stewart, Wm. B. Astor and Cornelius Vanderbilt alone are worth half the amount. These men not only represent immense wealth, but also moral worth, integrity and patriotism.

During the canvass in Connecticut last spring, the Copperheads promised the working men of that State that if they elected English Governor, trade would revive, orders would flow in from the South for Yankee notions, in large streams, and every one would have a good time generally. English was elected, the manufacturing establishments are doing next to nothing, and now the Copperhead leaders have the effrontery to claim that the Republican party is responsible for the depressed condition of manufacturing. Can anything overtop the assurance of a Copperhead?

The Albany Journal says that on Saturday evening last the Grant Club at that place had a glorious meeting. Just at the close of the first general order of business, as Mr. Elkins was about to open his address, as Mr. Elkins was about to open his address, the hall was visited by over forty ladies, who marched in procession, singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Their entrance was greeted with cheers, and their presence seemed to augment the fervor of patriotic feeling among those present.

A resolution was recently introduced in the California Legislature by Westmoreland, of Humboldt county, declaring that the result of the late election was not an endorsement of secession, nor a [illegible] of the war for the Union. The resolution was instantly tabled by the Democratic majority in the House. They were not to be caught declaring against the Democratic doctrine of secession, and condemning their own unpatriotic course in opposing the war for the suppression of the rebellion.

"Who," says the Albany Journal, "make the most ado about "nigger" equality? Those who approach them the nearest in the status of civilization. The educated and respectable of neither party think nor care anything about it." This is rough on Beriah and poor Abbott, who babble more about "nigger equality" than any other persons in existence.

In the House yesterday, a resolution was introduced by Oliver, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be instructed and requested to urge upon the general Government, the necessity of the annexation to our domain, of British Columbia. Referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

By Battle, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be instructed and requested to secure a tri-weekly mail from Crystal Peak, Nevada, to Summit postoffice in Plumas county. Referred to Committee on Federal Relations

Bills passed—An act to limit the hours of labor. Bill made the special order of the day for 12 o'clock M. to-morrow. Assembly concurrent resolution relative to applying to Congress for mail facilities between Sacramento and Princeton.

GOOD SUGGESTION.—The Irish People says: "As racing of every description has become so popular with the American people, would it not be a good idea to get up a contest between the leading types of the country. What an interesting spectacle it would be see Horace Greeley, Simon Cameron, Speaker Colfax, Thurlow Weed, Chevalier Forney and Robert Bonner, all old compositors, engaged in setting up ten thousand ems for a wager of about five thousand dollars each, half the winnings to be devoted to some charitable institution. Will Commodore Vanderbilt, John Morrissey and Mr. Jerome try their hands at getting up this match.

The two flouring mills at Albany are now running night and day. A local paper says that that place will hereafter make a figure in the report of the flour market.

VALUABLE AND RELIABLE.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" will be found invaluable to those exposed to sudden changes, affording prompt relief in cases of Coughs, Colds, etc. For Public Speakers and Singers, and those who over-tax the voice, they are useful in relieving an Irritated Throat, and will render articulation easy. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO—BOISE CITY, I. T.—Organized March 11th, 1867, (with circulation) under Act of Congress, approved June 3d, 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital $100,000. B. ## The Finances.

VIEWS OF THE NEW YORK MERCHANTS—M'CULLOCH'S POLICY SEVERELY CONDEMNED.

A leading New York merchant has addressed the following letter to Gen. B. F. Butler, in condemnation of the course of the Secretary of the Treasury, and as to the legislation necessary on the finances of the country:

NEW YORK, Nov. 29, 1867.

HON. B. F. BUTLER:

Dear Sir:—I avail myself of the permission you gave me the other day to address you a letter embodying what I believe to be the views of nearly every leading business man in New York as to the financial legislation required by the country.

The present great need of the business community, and indeed of the whole country, is financial stability. The whole cause of the present stagnation and stringency is the uncertainty as to the future which must exist in the minds of all men so long as the power of contracting and expanding almost at will is vested in the Secretary of the Treasury. His tremendous discretionary power in this and other respects is the great and overwhelming evil of which we complain, and its continuance will be an effectual bar against anything like commercial prosperity. As the laws now stand, the Secretary can, without accountability or responsibility to anybody or anything but his own good will or pleasure, do any or all or neither of the following acts, the commission or omission of any one of which, secretly and unexpectedly, will have a greater or less effect in unsettling values and impairing confidence throughout the country:

1. He can withdraw from circulation and cancel $4,000,000 per month of legal tenders. 2. He can, in his own way, and at his own time, and for such prices as he chooses, sell as much of the coin hoarded in the Treasury as he chooses. 3. He can increase or reduce his currency balances in the Treasury to the extent of millions daily, either by the sale of bonds or gold, or by the retention of his receipts for internal revenue, &c. 4. He has vast discretionary powers as to purchasing or exchanging of certain classes of securities, which powers are often apparently used in the interests of certain favored parties, and to the injury of innocent outsiders. Practically, under existing laws, Mr. McCulloch can depress or inflate the prices of all the commodities in the country at his pleasure. He can within six months, and perhaps a shorter period, force every national bank to go into liquidation, and make every merchant who owes money a bankrupt. I do not for a moment suppose that there is the slightest probability of his thus abusing the power he possesses, but I merely advert to the possibilities, in order to convince you how well grounded the present fear and uncertainty of business men are, and also to show the necessity of immediate legislation taking away these tremendous discretionary powers. This legislation should embrace the following points:

I. The absolute taking away of the Secretary's power of contracting the currency. If we are to have contraction (which, however, at present is simply financial suicide) let it go on, absolutely and inflexibly under an act of Congress, that everybody may know it beforehand, and can comprehend its extent and consequences. We have had enough of the discretion of a man who invariably stops when he ought to go on, and goes on when he ought to stop.

II. The discretionary power as to the amount of the balances in the Treasury should be taken from the Secretary. Within the last two years the currency balance in the Treasury has fluctuated between $20,000,000 and $90,000,000. The coin balances have shown the same frequent and bewildering fluctuations. We are even now in the midst of a quasi money panic, caused by the unexpected, and, to all appearances, unnecessary locking up of about $10,000,000 legal tenders in the sub-treasury within the past two or three weeks. The evil of thus accumulating large sums in the Treasury is twofold: First, the money thus hoarded is practically taken out of circulation, and produces stringency, and perhaps, in some quarters, panic; while the hoarding it benefits no one. And, second, the people are taxed to pay the interest on the amount thus hoarded. An examination of the Treasury reports for the past two years, will, I think, develop the fact that the average balances (reducing the coin to currency) have been nearly $150,000,000; a total balance of $50,000,000 is surely sufficient for all practical purposes, so that here is a single item of $6,000,000 interest on idle and unnecessary balances thrown away annually. The proper mode of remedying this evil is the one suggested by you the other day, viz: making it imperative upon the Secretary to sell his surplus coin over and above a certain fixed amount, and also compelling him to invest his currency balances, as they accumulate beyond a certain fixed sum, in the purchase of gold bearing bonds for cancellation. This would effectually remove the great bugbear of "locking up greenbacks," and would relieve the banks and merchants of the suspense and anxiety which the vagaries of the Secretary in this respect have caused them. * * *

III. The business interests of the country demand a weekly publication of the exact condition of the Treasury Department, similar to the weekly publication by the New York banks. The Secretary should be compelled to make a statement, in detail, over his own proper signature, of the preceding week's business, somewhat as follows:

I. State balance on hand at commencement of week's business in coin and currency separately.

II. State the receipts of coin and currency respectively during the week, with the respective sources from which they are derived.

III. State the amount of payments of coin and currency, respectively, with the respective objects for which such payments have been made.

IV. State the balance on hand in coin and currency separately at the time of making the statement.

The present statements made by the department only serve in many instances to mislead, as they do not particularize, and do not even separate the coin and currency transactions. The foregoing points I conceive to be the most important ones relating to the details of the management of the Treasury Department. As to the general questions of the tariff, taxation and currency, I will not go into detail, further than to state in general terms that the tariff should be laid with a view to obtaining the greatest amount of revenue with the least burden upon the people; that taxation should be simplified and restricted as much as possible, and that the revenue should be so adjusted as to yield a moderate surplus, annually, over and above the interest of the debt and expenditures of the Government, to be devoted exclusively to the purchasing and cancellation of the interest-bearing debt. As to currency, I consider the greenbacks the best currency in the world for a nation that is in debt; so good, indeed, that I would permit no other circulation to interfere or compete with it—Jay Cooke to the contrary notwithstanding.

Yours, &c.

WHILE SOME MEN BREAK THEIR Noses, Smash their Heads, Play Base Ball, &c., on the Ice, others are quietly seated before a good fire. Now, the question arises, which is the most comfortable? Of course both parties are equally comfortable, provided that the "Skaters" and those that travel out of doors have provided themselves with a good Overcoat, Beaver Suit, or such other warm clothing as KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, have for sale.

Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. ### THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

The Weekly Oregonian is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in The Daily Oregonian,—full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the Weekly Oregonian is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests. Single copies 12½ cents, or $3 00 per year, to any part of the United States, or British Columbia.

The Case of M. Phipps.—It will be recollected that when the Ajax was about to sail hence on her last trip here, a man named M. Phipps was arrested on the [illegible] on the charge of embezzlement, and though discharged from the Recorder's court and again by the Circuit Judge, was re-arrested by the Sheriff of Linn county [illegible] back to Albany. The Journal states the origin of the charge and the subsequent proceedings as follows: [illegible] About two or three weeks since, two men from Bridge Creek, Wasco county—one a Frenchman named [illegible] Pillet, and the [illegible] M. Tid[illegible], started for the Willamette valley, intending to winter here, and, in the [illegible], to purchase a lot of cattle in partnership, for the object of taking them to the John Day country in the [illegible]. They came [illegible] far as the [illegible] county and the Frenchman wishing to remain there a few days, [illegible] in the [illegible] his partner, to enable him to purchase any cattle that might fall in his way on the route to [illegible]. [illegible] they agreed to meet in about a week from the time that Phipps went [illegible] days [illegible] than at first contemplated the Frenchman started for the rendezvous, and when he reached there, he found his trusted friend had gone to Albany. Pillett made quick time for [illegible] that [illegible] his wife had left for Portland intending to go to the [illegible] States." [illegible] The prisoner upon arriving at Albany was examined before Judge [illegible]. The [illegible] entered into before the Judge, and the inquiry tended as to [illegible] the money [illegible] his hands, or whether Phipps received it in a fiduciary capacity. The [illegible] decided [illegible] to hold him to answer, although there is very little [illegible] he intended to go off with the money and leave his partner a victim of too much confidence. [illegible] fear of further proceedings, or a repentant conscience, he made [illegible] to the Frenchman most of his loss, by giving a bill of sale of a team of oxen in Wasco county, leaving him [illegible] of pursuit.

The John Day Mines.—Mr. L. Fuller, who came down from the North Fork of the John Day river about ten [illegible] gave us [illegible] the following information in [illegible] to the mines of that district: He says that a company [illegible] started in to dig a ditch, [illegible] about [illegible] below what is [illegible] the Texas Diggings and [illegible] the [illegible] to be a rich placer. [illegible] ground where the dirt near the surface [illegible] that this would pay, they set four sluice boxes and [illegible] after eight [illegible] cleaned up $260, saving only about two-thirds of the gold [illegible]. The reason of losing so much was that the gold was very fine and [illegible] quicksilver. Mr. Fuller is confident that with good sluicing [illegible] per day to the man. The gold was found in a gravel hill-side where the bed [illegible] feet deep. This company [illegible] worked it back some fifteen or twenty feet to where the [illegible] deep. The [illegible] pays [illegible] equally well everywhere within two feet of the bed [illegible] the North Fork for about thirty miles and has never failed to find such [illegible] as indicated good paying claims [illegible], and he [illegible] that men should lay around idle anywhere, when, by the exercise of a little spirit, they could go upon the North Fork, [illegible] anywhere and realize fair to handsome pay. Previous to the setting in of winter, there were at work on the stream in the Texas Diggings [illegible] seventy-five or eighty men, of whom some twenty-five or thirty will remain through the winter. Of those [illegible] there to winter, [illegible] to return in the spring. [illegible] the Oregon City [illegible] the left via Santa Creek [illegible]

[illegible] we have had no [illegible] of [illegible] and south of that [illegible] This winter, [illegible] to be [illegible] by the [illegible] than that we have experienced.

Capitol, Olympia, Dec. 11th, 1867.

Dr. Gross, Portland—Sir: I have been in the habit of using the "Henley Royal Balsam" in my family, who reside at Wallula, Walla Walla county, W. T. I am now at Olympia, attending the present session of the Legislature, and the climate is so different from that of Walla Walla county that I have taken cold, and I have endeavored to purchase some of the medicine here but was unable to do so. Please send a bottle up immediately by mail. I have used nothing else in my family and cannot get along without it. Yours truly,

DR. C. W. COOL,

DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire [illegible] with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one-third times thinner than the [illegible] vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. This new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received, December 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, [illegible] with great success [illegible] equally [illegible] its healing virtues when [illegible] externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in those far off places by its merits.

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNSAFE REMEDIES for unpleasant and dangerous diseases. Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu and Improved Rose Wash.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, Jan. 17, 1868.

Yesterday morning, gold was quoted at New York at 138⅞. Legal Tenders at San Francisco, were 71½c buying, and 72½c, selling. This is an advance in gold of seven-eighths per cent since the 10th, the date of our last report; and a decline of one-half a cent in Legal Tenders.

Since the 6th inst., we have been cut off from steamer communication with the country east of the mountains by the freezing of the Columbia river, and hence, there have been neither receipts of treasure from, nor shipments of merchandise to, that region. The month of January will show but a barren record, financially and [illegible].

By telegraph, we have the following produce market reports from New York, Liverpool and San Francisco: At New York, Jan. 14th, wheat, $3 05@3 15, steady. At Liverpool, wheat, 15 shillings per cental. At San Francisco, 16th, Oregon flour, $7 50; wheat, quiet at $1 [illegible]@2 00 for [illegible] to good milling, medium milling, $2 00.

In consequence of the [illegible] local business, except a few unimportant sales to city retailers, is entirely closed, and we can only quote nominal figures. Should the river continue closed and the ground hard frozen, as now, for a considerable length of time, there will be a [illegible] trade with the Willamette valley, by teams; otherwise, the city will be as completely isolated, commercially, as if located in the center of the Great Desert.

PROSPECTUS OF THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT!

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HAVING PURCHASED the "UNION BOOK & JOB PRINTING OFFICE," of T. F. McElroy, propose to issue a Weekly Newspaper at Olympia, W. T., on or about the 1st of December next, to be called THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT.

HIRAM SMITH'S Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is so thoroughly taught and practised, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintances, in which, however, it proved itself [illegible] infallible in eradicating disease from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, seemed only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely disseminate the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure where medical science and all else have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its success that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons, living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without effect.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. B. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

[illegible] solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the [illegible] about the [illegible], blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity.
